The Crest of a Wave

Lawrence Weiner

Only conceptual art lovers will be able to fully appreciate this proposal by Lawrence Weiner, a key figure in the development of conceptual art from the sixties until today. In collaboration with the Fundació Suñol, Weiner presents a series of sculptural gestures, ideas and actions. Step I: Thousands of sugar packets are distributed in bars, restaurants and cafés throughout the city. Their identifying feature is Weiner's striking typographic rendition of the phrase "The Crest of a Wave" in red and yellow. Step II and III: Weiner presents an adaptation of the sentence painted on the exterior and interior of Fundació Suñol accompanied by music from Ned Sublette and The Persuasions. Step IV: During the opening week of the exhibition, an iron horseshoe will be wrapped in cotton cloth and tossed upon a wave's crest at the beach of Barcelona. Get it?
