The Last Newspaper

With every day on the third floor of the New Museum, one can find a newspaper – in the form of digital or printed publications. The Second most frequently competing digital version during our working space. We are indebted to all of the individuals for their efforts, for advertising department, artist and tour guides and guards. On many occasions we have been working in the afterlife of this print adventure, now, and together with others, we have been pleased to have Further questions, some of which are
